Flexible solutions for roof edge protection

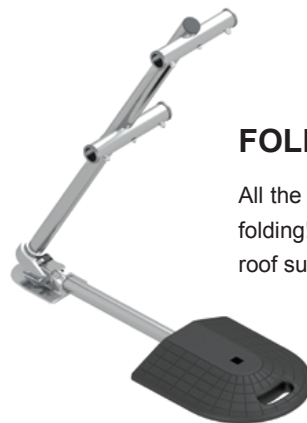

Our range of lightweight edge protection systems are ideal for situations where collective fall protection is required. All of our systems are supplied in kit form for easy handling and installation, and use the minimum of components making specification, ordering, and installation as quick and simple as possible, the modular design also means there's no on site bending or welding, saving installers valuable time on site.

Each of the three systems that make up the range have been specifically designed to be installed on different edge details, but share common components so that all three systems can be configured together for maximum flexibility.

FREESTANDING SYSTEM

This system uses a proven counterbalance weight to provide exceptional stability on all roof coverings. Installed completely freestanding there is no need to drill or secure through the roof membrane.

FOLDING SYSTEM

All the benefits of the freestanding counterbalance system but folding!. Installed completely freestanding and folds flat to the roof surface.

PARAPET SYSTEM

The parapet system uses a fully adjustable bracket to clamp over an existing parapet wall. The bracket can be adjusted to the width of the parapet wall as well as the height of the top rail been adjusted by the top riser.

TOPFIX SYSTEM

The topfix system secures directly to a wall or coping top. This system can be used to permanently protect open edges to stairwells, open shafts, or loading bays. Add our extended base plate and this system can be used on trapezoidal roof sheet systems.

All our systems comply to the following legislation:

- BS EN 13374: 2004 Class A
- HSE INDG 284 "Working on roofs"
- HSG33 "Health and safety at work"
- BS6399: Part 2 1995 Wind code
